IRISH WAR STOPS.

SENSATION IN LONDON.

THE MOST DRAMATIC SCENE IN IRISH BISTORY,

LONDON, July 8. It is officially announced that in accordance with an offer by Mr. Libyd

George and a favourable reply from Mr. De Valera it less been arrabged that hostilities will cease in Ireland at noon on July 11. STREET PRAYERS FOR SUCCESS. LORGON, July 8. The Irish peace conference was resumed at the Mansion House,

Dublin. Public interest has been immensely stimulated by the events since Monday, notably the visit of General Souts which has given a strong fillip to hopes of settement. The crowd, which filled the whole space in front of the building was in excellent humour and cheered all the members, of the crowd recited the Rosary and other prayers for its success. The men-were LONDON, July 8. Mr. De Valera has replied to Mr. Lloyd George's invitation to a conference in London expressing readiness to meet and discuss on what basis such a conference can hope to achieve a peaceful. Irish settlement. He says that Irishmen share the desire and feelings for neighbourly harmony and that the decision was reached after securing the views of representatives of the minority of the Irish nation.

GENERAL MACREADY AT CONFERENCE.

The Irish conference continued all day, not concluding before eight o'clock. Late in the afternoon the waiting crowd was attented to see General Macready, Commander in Chief in Ireland, motor up and enter the conference chamber where he remained an hour. He then left but returned later, staying a lew minutes until the conference broke up.

BLOODSHED MUST CEASE.

A Sinn Fein communique issued later stated that the Valere had informed the conference the terms in which it was proposed to reply to Mrs. of the Institution of Civil Engineers Lloyd George's invitation. At a previous session of the conference he (A.M.I.C.E.) in 1802, and towards the expressed the view that it was impossible to negotiate with any hope of lend of that year he came to Hongkong success unless bloodshed ceased. A letter, from Mr. Lloyd George to as an Assistant Engineer in the Viscount Midleton was read concurring and indicating the British Govern. Public Works Department. Withment's assent to a mutual suspension of operations.

"THAT'S SMUTS!"

The climax was reached upon the appearance of Mr. De Valera surrounded by his bodyguard. Crowds surged around him to shake hands with him and attempts were made to chair him. His car slowly moved off laden. with clinging figures wildly cheering,

First impressions in Dublin are that the results of the conference have exceeded the hopes of the greatest optimists. In Dublin it is emphasised first that Mr. De Valera is going to London to see Mr. Lloyd George and that simultaneously a suitable atmosphere for peace will be created by the cessation of hostilities.

The news created a sensation in London. The first opinion expressed "That's Smots!" and it is the greatest triumph of the Empire. DRAMATIC SCENE IN DUBLIN, LONDON, July 9. When the conference at the Mansion House broke up there occurred construction what is probably the most dramatic scene witnessed in Irish history. The dam in the Par East-a work first intimation of the truce decision was conveyed to the crowds by the which excites the admiration of Lord Mayor accompanied by Mr. Duggap, a member of Dall Elreann, all engineers, and will give to his There was tremendous cheering when the former declared that the moment was the brightest and happiest in his life after which : Mr. Doggan announced the truce. This was followed by an unprecedented uproat, cheers, and excitement. The crowd remained singing patriotic airs for an hour. All cheered the departing Sinn Fein leaders.

OBITUARY.

MR. D. JAFPE, AM.I.C.E.

PROBLEM ON O SCILL

There are many in Hongkong who will learn with deep regret the sad news that Mr. Daniel Jaffe, A.M.I.C.E. who was for sixteen years a much walted member of the Engineering Staff of the local Public Works Department, has died in London, and much sympathy will be extended to Mrs. Jaffe and her two sons in their heavy and sad bereavement.

Mr. Jaffe went home on leave in 1918, suffering from sprue and inammation of the liver. Failing to regain his health, he retired on pension in the Autumn of 1919. After his retirement, he spent considerable time in the Eversleigh Hospital for Tropical Diseases, his complaint then being pernicious anaemia, the result, no doubt, of long residence and laborious work in the Colony. Death occurred on June II and the news was received here yesterday, Mr. Jaffe was a most capable, conscientious and hard working officer. His premature retirement was recognised to be a distinct loss to Hongkong.

Born on September 2, 1875, Mr. Jaffe was technically educated at the City and Guilds Institute, Westminster, of which Institution he held the diploma of Associate A.C.G.I.). He was trained as a Civil Engineer under the late Hr. James Mansergh, F.R.S., a past President of the Institute of Civil Engineers and famous as a waterworks consulting engineer. Mr. Jaffe was admitted a student of the inchtution of Engineers and subsequentty pushied and was elected an Associate in two years he was Acting Executive Engineer, and from January /1906 he held the substantive appointment as Executive Engineer until his re-Prior to coming to Hongkong, Mr. affe was engaged on the Birmingham Corporation water works in North

Mr. Jaffe leaves in the Colony some notable monuments of his professional ability. To him was entrusted the construction of the first section of the Tytam Waterworks scheme involving the constructon of the in termediate dam below Tytam; later he undertook the construction of the second section of the Tytam Tuk which included name enduring fame in the engineering annals of the Colony. The Typhoon refuge at Mongkoktsui was another great work for which he was responsible. The late Mr. Jaffe was a very quiet and unassuming man. Although reticent in his disposition he made many friends during the sixteen years he spent in the Colony, who have deeply sympathised with him in his illness, and who will regret to hear of its fatal termination.

AN ECONOMIC REALIST.

FRON TRADE PROJECTS IN HUNGARY AND SLOTABIA.

Herr Hugo Stinnes, the cominating figure in German economic and political life, has suddenly emerged in Central Europe. Since he acquired a controlling interest in the Alpinen and Montan irenworks in Styrie it is being whispered that this is only the beginning of an attempt to correr the iron industries in Middle Europe. and that his ambitions are not limited to iron, since he is seeking to acquire an interest in influential newspapers in Vienna and Budarest. Hugo Stinnes realises two thingsfirst, that the French occupation of the Ruhr district is not beyond the bounds of possibility, and that seriously threatens his coalmines and his ironworks; second, that Germany, losing all of its iron mines through the loss of Alsace Lorraine must look for new resources. With an eye to the first possibility Stinnes is slowly withdrawing some of the money invested in the Ruhr district and is trying to invest it in other parts of the world. But the second calamity, the loss of the raw material, is far the more serious one. Cermany's pig-iron output before the war amounted to almost 19,000,000 tons. To obtain this production she needed almost 50,000,000 tons of iron ore, and her own fields yielded only 49 per cent of this amount. The rest had to be imported from Sweden,

Spain, France, Algiers, and Morocco.

THE QUEST FOR ORE. Now, with the loss of Lograine, 80 per cent of Germany's home production is gone. The stocks of German Lorraine were estimated to somewhere near one milliard tons, whereas the French mines of Briey, Longwy, and Nancy amounted to over three milliard these fields have passed into French hands. Germans in 1913 produced in the Lorraine mines 22 million tons of Minette ore. The French produced slightly over 16 million. But the French production was growing far more rapidly than the German. The German production since the early nineties only doubled itself, while the French grew from one million tons per year in the pineties to almost 17 million tons in 1913. So that the Germans, when the war broke out, were actually importing large quantities of ore from Prench

Lorraine. Stinnes, the owner of be larges ironworks in Germany, was the one man who realised the dependence of Germany upon France, and so his first policy was to seek co-operation This policy failed. Therefore Stinnes seeks resources elsewhere. The im portation of Spanish and Swedish ore become very difficult because of the reduced mercantile marine. The Continental resources were the onl

"And she will impose taxes" continued M. Briand. Mr. Lloyd George said: "The Ruhr is a joint pledge which belongs to us all. You will not raise taxes without our consent, and England will oppose that with all her might." It was at this moment that M. Briand, for the first time, pushed back his chair to rise and leave, but was stopped. A LAST CHANCE

BANQUE INDUSTRIELLE DE CHINE.

Paris, July 8th. The affair of the Banque Industrielle de Chine threatens grave complications. Violent political passions are hidden behind the intense agitation for the salvage of the Bank. The cry "Panama" is raised by the Government's opponents of the Extreme Right, whose organ daily and fiercely attacks the honesty of statesmen and high officials, chiefly of Senator Berthelot. Director of the Bank and brother of the Secretary of the Foreign Office. There are indications of a bitter political fight similar to the Pansma scandal and the Dreyfus affair.

ANGLO-JAPANESE ALLIANCE.

London. July 8th. The China Association has sent a letter to the Foreign Office declaring that there is a strong feeling in China that 'that to accomplish the complete round the clause of the Anglo-Japanese Treaty, in any one year would call for a nice dealing with the ensuring of the inde adjustment of times, to say nothing of pot been carried out in practice. South of the direct line between Astora and Yokohama lie a large number of islands, such as Honolulu Jaluit, Guam, and many smaller islands between and north and south of them. Very few of these, however provide suitable landing ground; and the small islands of the Pacific are. as a rule only corsi reefs, while those be of volcanic origin are mountainous and rupped. asons. Taking the San Francisco Honolulu-Jahrit-Guam-Manile the greatest distances are 2,0901 2,130, 1,490, and 1,380 nautical miles On another route, from San Francisco to Honolulu the Midway Islands Wake, and Guam, the greatest die tances are 2,090, 1,140, 1,050, and 1,200 nautical miles. The greatest separate distance hitherto covered by a land arcoplane was the 1,680 nautae. al miles by Acock and Brown in the trans-Atlantic erossing; and, by flying boat, the 1,200 miles by the N.C. 4 in a trans-Atlantic voyage. will be seen, therefore, that to cross the Pacific would call for the account plishment (and more than once) of. far greater distance than any yes made; and the best hitherto done were extremely lucky and very exceptional. The question of providing mid-occase halts must therefore be raised, and in that event either amphibians or flying boats would have to be used in the Pacific section, if nowhere else. For the trans-Atlantic flights westerly winds were necessary, and favourable conditions for the west to east crossing of the Atlantic occur chiefly and the Rome-Tokyo flights, it would in April, May, and June. But if the round-the-world flight be from west may be argued that a round-the-world to east it will involve the passage flight would never enter the domain of of the Pacific at the wide crossing of regular commercial transport or, at 4,200 miles, or else by a shorter way this stage, throw new light on the but in the teeth of the North-East possibilities of commercial air trans- trades, which continue practically port; that it would add nothing to throughout the year, extending from our knowledge of the capabilities the United States almost to the Philipof the aeroplane, and would be simply pines. But even between 60deg N. lat. and 15deg S. if the air navigator selected this relat., and the period allotted for the gion he would still be faced by the journey will not be less than six long flight from Honolulu to San months, and may be more. Any Francisco, the alternative being an even longer one; and between Honepetitors may use different types at Inlu and San Francisco the North-East trades prevail.

"TRADES," MONSOONS, AND FOGS. The winter monsoons along the Asiatic coast are often violent storms, and the period in which these are prevalent must be ruled out. The airman would almost certainly have to choose May, June, July, and August for this part of the circuit, when the summer monsoons prevail, during which advantage could often be taken of fair weather. The South Asiation Coast and the Philippines are subject, to typhoons, which are most frequent in July, August, and September, and least frequent in February.

The most northerly crossings of the Pacific are too commonly fog-bound to be considered; besides being almost hopeless for other reasons. But the fog diminishes towards the Midway Islands; and between 28deg. N. ht. and the Equator there is scarcely any ascertain, these coast fogs are the rule rather than the exception; but, it must not be imagined that comparatively narrow bands of fog would be a serious deterrent.

It will be seen from these general considerations that the northern routes are impossible, and achieve success, but no airship could that the routes taking in San Francisco and Honolulu would, if flown by acroplanes or flying boats, call for mid-ocean refuelling depots. On the route Guam - Manila - Hongkouse Pebruary would probably be the most favourable month. But how would the successful accomplishment of the Pacific section from east to west in February fit in with the other parts of a round-the-world flight? The answer is extremely difficult to find. but it is very rarely that an aeropland could cross the Atlantic about 40des. N. latitude, from east to west: the is, until we get machines that will carry heavy loads at a speed of 156 miles per hour for upwards of twenty hours at a stretch. Speaking generally, the first half of the year is the most favourable for a flight from England to the East; and if one began in January, and reached Hongkong or the Philippines about May, with luck the American continent and the Atlantic might be crossed by the end of July but this would involve flying (against the trade wind) from Honolula to San Francisco, and, as already said, would almost certainly demand . mid-ocean/depot.

It is fairly safe to forecast, therefore that the first round-the-world-flight will be from East to West, and the the most northerly points touched will be San Francisco and Lisbon, there being no reason for calling at the

To fix a minimum of six months for the flight is to take an optimistics. view. Unexpected good as well bad fortune would be encountered en zoute. There would be long and irritating delays; and a large number of local meteorological conditions which cannot be referred to in a short article would have to be considered Indeed, the meteorology of the Pacific : and the Asiatic coast is very little known, No doubt the flight would it provide many interesting proofs of the existence of regions where the prevailing winds could be utilised for regular seasonal air services

NEW LONDON DICKS.

KING'S SPEECH AT OFENING CEREMONY.

LONDON'S PREMIER POSITION

LONDON, July 8. A striking river pageant marked the occasion of the King opening the London dock extensions. The King and Queen, the Duke of York, and Princess Mary travelled down by steamer from Westminster. The vessels on-the river were beflagged and big crowds on the banks beartily cheered. The King, replying to an address from the Port of London Authority, said that the new dock, which would be known as the King George V dock promised greatly to increase the efficiency and prosperity of the port. It would be able to accommodate vessels far higger than had ever before entered the port. It was equipped with the finest and most modern buildings and machinery so that cargoes could be loaded and unloaded more speedily. He was confident that London would maintain the position of the foremost port in the world.

MUSTAPHA KEMAL'S DUPLICITY.

GENERAL HARINGTON STOPS POURPARLERS FOR INTERVIEW.

LONDON, July 8.

Reuter learns that a message received from Mustapha Kemal completely distorts the facts with regard to the proposed meeting with General Harington, falsely representing that the British suggested the meeting and declaring that he is willing to negotiate provided that the whole Turkish programme, namely complete control of Constantinople and the Straits in return for Thrace and Smyrna etc. is accepted. By the Allies' agreement General Harington is strictly instructed not to negotiate but only to hear Mustapha's case. General Harington is still in Constantinople. His next step will be to send a reply to Mustapha.

CONSTANTINOPLE, July 8.

Pourparlers for the projected interview between General Harington and Mustapha Kemal have been broken off owing to the latter's false representations in his preliminary demands.

INDIANS ABRO \D.

IMPERIAL CONFERENCE REFERS MATTER TO COMMITTEE

LONDON, July 8.

... An Imperial Conference communique states that Mr. Sastri made a statement in connection with the position of British Indians domiciled in the Dominions and Colonies, after which the question was referred to a committee. Discussion followed regarding the League of Nations among all the premiers. Lord Curzon, who participated said that there was very general appreciation of the value of the League and its claim to Empire support as a step forward in the regulation of international affairs.

HOUSE RENTS.

CHINESE CRITICISE BILL

INTERESTING RECOMMENDATIONS

A Committee of the Chinese Cham-

bir of Commerce appointed a week a to to consider the provisions of the Rent Bill reported at a meeting of the Chamber yesterday held under the presidency of the Hon. Lau Chu-Pak. Among the recommendations made was one that the standard rent should be based on the rentals prevailing on June 30, 1921. The Committee says :- "We have not lost sight of the fact that since the 31st December, 1920, some rents have been increased by as much as 100 per cent. or more. But at the same time we could not overlook the cases in which houses were bought during the last six months for the purpose of permanent investment, and prices paid for them, based on the rental existing at the time of purchase; nor could we dismiss from consideration cases of owners who, not having for several years raised their rents, have during the past six months made perfectly reasonable increases. In order therefore not to inflict hardship on the innocent while making the guilty suffer, we added the proviso that the rent recoverable on the 30th June. 1921, is not to be more than wenty per cent, over and above that recoverable on the 31st December, 1920; and that, should it exceed this limit, it has to be reduced to that limit as from the 1st July, 1921.

Another recommendation was the insertion of a provision that "no occupies without giving the landlord six months notice in the case of domestic tenements not used as shops." Also that it should be unlawul for one tenant to transfer his tenement to another without the consent of the landlord. The Committee stated that they had received sixty-five letters from various shopkeepers and other tenants. It had been pointed out that the expansion of New Kowloon was such that any application of the Bill to this part of the Colony would have a direct effect in checking the scheme of development that was being carried out. The Committee says: "There can be no question but that the prevailing conditions call for legislative interference, not only to check the rapacity of unprincipled landlords, and to put-a stop to speculation in house property, but also to prevent the inevitable smash," with its attendant disorganisation of the money-market which would come soon or late, if the recent wild speculations are allowed to go on unchecked.

A motion submitted by Mr. Ho Kam Tong was adopted to the effect that the rents prevailing on June 30. 1921, should be adopted as the standard, but that in any circumstances not more than a 10 per cent., increase on the rents paid on December, 31, 1920, should be recoverable.

BANQUE INDUSTRICLLE.

"FRENCH GOVERNMENT STRIVING HARD TO SECURE SOLUTION."

POURPARLERS WITH CHINA.

PARIS, July 8. M. Briand, speaking in the Chamber of Deputies, stated that the Gov ernment was striving hard to secure a satisfactory solution of the Banque Industrielle problem. Pourparlers were proceeding with China with the object of finding means for maintaining the enterprise which had rendered, and should render, great service both to France and China.

PRISON CAMP TYPHUS HORROR.

TWO GERMAN GENERALS CHARGED WITH NEGLECT.

LEIPZIG. July 8. The Supreme Court has begun the trial of Generals von Schreck, and von Kruska on charges of neglectfully causing an outbreak of typhus in a war prisoners' camp at Niederzwehsen as the result of which 3,800 French prisoners died.

FRANCE DISGUSTED WITH TRIAL RESULTS.

LONDON, July 8.

France is disgusted with the results of the Leipzig trials and it is reported that M. Briand has telegraphically recalled the French representatives at the trials and has suggested that Britain and Belgium act in a similar manner.

A GERMAN APOLOGY.

BERLIN, July 8. The Foreign Minister has expressed regret to the French Ambassador at the anti-French demonstration after the acquittal of Stenger. He said that he had asked the Saxon Government to take steps to prevent a recurrence of such incidents.

VERSAILLES TREATY.

ONLY PROPER SAFEGUARD FOR AMERICAN INTERESTS.

EXPURGATED VERSION PREPARED.

WASHINGTON, July 8. The opinion is being expressed that the interests of the United States can only properly be safeguarded by the Treaty of Versailles. Mr. Hughes, the Secretary for State, has prepared an expurgated version of the Treaty which it is considered will command the necessary majority of the senate in which for the "Council of the League of Nations" is substituted the "Principal Allied and Associated Powers." Part four is mostly retained with exceptions. For example of clauses dealing with Shantung Peninsula are eliminated. American representation on the Reparations Commission, however, is assured. Mr. Hughes' principle appears to be the retention of clauses in which the United States is directly interested or which are not likely to entangle the United States in European affairs.

COAL STRIKE

STRIKING FIGURES SHOW BIG TRADE SETBACK.

LONDON, July 8.

The effects of the coal stoppage have again received striking illustra. tion, the Board of Trade returns showing the imports in June at £88,000,000 and the exports at £38,000,000, decreases of £82,000,000 and £78,000,000. respectively compared with June of 1920. The imports for the six months ending June 30 were £571,500,000, and the exports £369,000,000, decreases of £461 250,000, and £268,500,000, respectively, compared with the corresponding period in 1920.

JAPAN ALLIANCE

LONDON, July 8. As regards Mr. Lloyd George's reply in the House of Commons that he was awaiting a reply from the United States regarding the Japan Alliance, a Washington message states that it is announced that the States in remeat has not received any formal communication from Britain on e subject of renewal of the Anglo-Japanese Treaty.

FRENCH UNEMPLOYED.

TEN MILLION FRANCS FOR RELIEF OF DISTRESS.

The Senate has voted ten million france for relief of distress owing to enployment. A senstor in opposing the measure said that only 55,000 arrions were now unemployed in France compared with 90,000 in May.
